

Should Have Known

By Elva Jones-Hahn

V1

What about you old friend?

Now, how have you been?

It was such a long time ago

We were so much younger then

I guess I didn't realize who you were

Standing by the car, waiting on a signal, to come on in

Chorus

Then you spoke some words that scared me

And it brought me right down to my knees (Right to my knees)

What the hell were you expecting?

And I should have known

And I should have known

And I should have known

V2

Have another shot at love and tell me what you're missing

Life hasn't been to fair

But it will be all right (It will be all right)

Time takes it's toll on you and you take what's been given

And then 30 years have past and your love speaks out at last

Chorus

Then you spoke some words that moved me

You've loved but not like this before

Where the hell was I while you were dreaming

And I should have known

And I should have known

And I should have known
